"I always had a connection to the water. Growing up in Germany, far away from the sea my favorite show was Jacques Cousteau and I loved learning everything I could about the ocean. I remember when I was a child I would have a recurring dream that I could breathe underwater — it made me so happy"

30 years ago work brought her husband and infant baby to Los Angeles and they ultimately moved to Malibu. 'The ocean and surf lifestyle became part of my life'

'With my wardrobe, I have always been looking for pieces I can wear that are comfortable yet chic — I came across a picture of Pablo Picasso in his studio wearing a ruby-colored, terry cloth polo shirt and thought: I wish I had that. Shortly after that, a friend came over wearing a vintage 60s zip-up terry cloth jacket. At that moment I knew I had to reinterpret these pieces.

Simone Fan is an elevated terry line that embodies comfort without compromise. The line was designed to be played and lived in. Classic and timeless cuts in array of colors that can be mix and matched to suit any mood or occasion.
